

App. No. 10/707,728

RECEIVED
CENTRAL FAX CENTER

APR 12 2007

In the Claims:

What is claimed is:

1-23 (cancelled)

24. (currently amended) A putting training device comprising: a level component attached by a hinge to a shaft attachment means, where said attachment means is a clamp member that is attached to a shaft on the putter grip portion of a putter with said clamp member having a plurality of arms which have pressure through a pressure means which to apply pressure to said the putter shaft with an adjustment means to adjust the angle between said level component and said shaft attachment means where said adjustment means is a worm drive gear on the shaft attachment means which moves a tongue which is attached to said level component which the user can adjust the angle of the lie by the worm drive gear with the user rotating the drive gear 48 either left or right to incline or decline the lie angle of the level component.
25. (Previously Presented) A putting training device as in claim 24 in which said level component is a level chamber with an air bubble within said chamber.
26. (Previously Presented) A putting training device as in claim 25 in which said level chamber has a top housing and a bottom housing.
27. (Previously Presented) A putting training device as in claim 24 in which said level component has an image on its face.
28. (Previously Presented) A putting training device as in claim 24 in which said pressure means are springs.